

Semi-integrated motorhome on a Mercedes chassis with a new layout: the Hymer T-Class S 680

Bad Waldsee, 10 January 2020 – Hymer GmbH & Co. KG is continuing its collaboration with Mercedes-Benz in the semi-integrated motorhome sector. The Hymer T-Class S provides the perfect introduction to the world of motorhoming on a whole new level: the bodywork of the Mercedes-Benz Sprinter with front-wheel drive and original frame has a marked impact on payload reserves and the headroom within the vehicle, while numerous driver assistance systems are also included on board. The most impressive features of the new 680 layout of the Hymer T-Class S include its two generous twin beds, the spacious en-suite bathroom that can be partitioned off from the living area, and the optional fold-down bed above the L-shaped seating area, which is also an optional extra.

With the T-Class S, Hymer is redefining the quality standards for those starting out in the world of motorhoming. Measuring 7.39 metres in length and 2.29 metres in width, the motorhome on the Mercedes-Benz Sprinter chassis boasts a sporty look. Numerous assistance systems, such as Crosswind Assist, Active Brake Assist or DISTRONIC Active Distance Assist, ensure a high level of safety and a smooth drive.

New designer touches and an especially cosy interior

When it comes to the interior, the T-Class S boasts a clear-cut design: a cosy atmosphere is created by the modern synergy of mirror-finish surfaces combined with matt surfaces that are pleasing to the touch, as well as the accentuated wooden design of the furniture. Thanks to the lowered chassis frame, the upper floor is level throughout the vehicle, which results in a generous overall headroom of 2.04 metres. The spacious en-suite bathroom with separate shower integrated in the 680 layout offers plenty of room and can also be partitioned off from the living area. The highlights of the layout are the inviting seating area and two generous single beds measuring 83 centimetres in width and over 1.90 metres in length. As an option, a lowerable double bed above the seating area can be added to the T-Class S 680.

Furnishings and fittings create a cosy atmosphere on board

The optional L-shaped seating section at the front of the living area creates an open feeling of space thanks to the additional side couch and clever floor plan. On request, handy double USB ports and extra sockets can be installed in the seating area, which has a particularly spacious design, and by the rear beds. An integrated, floor-to-ceiling wardrobe also provides storage space for light jackets and evening gowns. The vehicle features a hot air diesel heater with a boiler as standard, which not only has a positive impact on the weight and storage space as gas bottles are no longer required, but also ensures greater self-sufficiency on trips as it is powered by diesel. The space for the two compact 3-litre gas bottles for the hob is still present. The new layout of the T-Class S also has a floor-to-ceiling, silent 152-litre compressor refrigerator as standard with an optional oven above. The kitchen design features a light colour scheme and a tapered front panel, which gives the vehicle a more spacious appearance and enables the kitchen to be used in a more ergonomic way. The large panoramic roof vent in the living area lets in plenty of daylight to create a pleasant, natural ambience inside the vehicle. The striking lighting concept is based on LED technology and features several lighting levels.
